MEDICAL.

[T]O THE UNFORTUNATE.

[N]EW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

[D]R. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that [he h]as returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those [requi]ring his services may find him. [T]he Doctor has spared neither time nor money in [seek]ing out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

[H]ow many thousands of persons, both male and [fe]male, are [illegible] who are suffering out a [illegible] [exis]tence from the effects of secret indulgences, or [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their [illegible] and disfigured faces and their [illegible] constitutions, disqualifying them for [the hap]piness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. [In t]his horrid situation thousands suffer until death [clos]es the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these [illegible] destroying maladies. [S]ee that they are [illegible] for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has [made t]he private diseases his especial study for years, [and] who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases [with]out [mer]cury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who [illegible] in the welfare of their friends, to be [ca]reful of the many pretended doctors who infest [the] cities, publishing their skill in curing all [illegible] [a fe]w days, imposing upon the public by [illegible] of eminent physicians from Europe and [illegible] Be therefore careful and make strict [inq]uiry, or you may fall into the hands of [illegible].

Se[min]al Weakness.

[illegible], the consequence of self-abuse [illegible] vice, or depraved sexual indulgence [pra]cticed by the youth of both sexes to an almost [un]limited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless [illegible] medical measures, viz.: [illegible] countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the [head], ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, [bl]unted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in [approac]hing strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania, and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give [One H]undred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this disease by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Marri[ed] Men,

[Or those] who contemplate marriage, who are suffering [from] any of th[ose] fearful maladies, should put [off] the sacred responsibility resting upon them [un]til [they] obtain immediate relief. [D]R. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written guarantee, binding himself to [effect] a [safe] and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cure at Home.

[Person]s at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, [symptoms], length of time the disease has continued, [and have] medicines promptly forwarded, free from [dama]ge and curiosity, to any part of the country, [with] full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten [Dolla]rs in a registered letter through the Post-office, or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of [med]icine will be forwarded to any part of the [Union]. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

[Bew]are of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, deceive the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose [nam]es are to be found in the daily and weekly [pa]pers of San Francisco and other places, are [illegible] too lazy to work at their [trades]. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newsboys, [bar]bers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only [way] to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets. [Th]e advertising physicians in eight cases out of [ten a]re bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. [Gibbon] does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. [illegible] will satisfy persons who may call at his [office] of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes [to cure].

[Add]ress DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, [illegible], San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957. [REM]EMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY [OREGONIAN].

[SUF]FERERS FROM NERVOUS DEBILITY and all disorders brought on by indiscretions, [illegible] having tried in vain all known means, has [disc]overed a new and simple remedy. His experience, warning and means of self-cure given in [a pam]phlet, [ma]iled free, on receiving a post paid [directed] envelope. Address GEO. RUSSELL, P. O. [Box] [illegible], San Francisco, Cal.

CALIFORNIA.

[illegible] San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—At twenty minutes past eleven last night the fire department was called out by Alarm Station No. 43 to extinguish a fire that broke out in a Chinese washhouse, at the north side of Post and West Mason. The fire had been burning for some time before the alarm was given, and was under considerable headway by the time the firemen arrived, and before the firemen got water on the washing establishment, located in a one-story frame building, a two-story frame house on the west occupied as a dwelling, one on the east, used as a paint shop, and a dwelling building on the corner of Post and M[illegible] and dwelling, were in flames, which were extinguished in a short time after several streams were turned on the burning buildings. The rear of the Chinese Temple, on Mason street, near Post, was somewhat damaged by fire. No insurance on them. H. Leverman, grocer, saved most of his wares; the upper part of the building was occupied by a widow named Specht. Mrs. Chapman occupied another of the buildings destroyed. The total loss is estimated at $3,000. Chief Engineer Scannell was in command last night, the first fire he has attended since he met with an accident on the Sacramento.

VALLEJO, Dec. 2.—The U. S. steamer Benicia arrived off Mare Island about 1 o'clock this afternoon with King Kalakaua and party on board. The customary salute was fired as the King landed on Mare Island. The Marines were drawn up in order at his boat landing. All officers of the navy yard and vessels in the harbor were present in full dress to receive the Royal visitor. The plank shore was thronged with spectators. Admiral I. Rodgers' residence was beautifully decorated with evergreens and flags. The Admiral met his guests on their arrival and presented the officers, after which he escorted them to his residence where a collation was partaken of, after which the party returned to the Benicia, highly delighted with their visit.

Suicide or Murder?

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—A party of five young men started out on Sunday to hunt along the shore of the bay beyond the dry dock. After a few hours spent in rambling over the hills, one of the party suddenly found himself in close proximity to a man apparently leaning against a tree. The sportsman hailed the stranger, whose back was toward him. Receiving no response, he crept around through the bushes for a better view, and was horrified to discover that the man was dead, and was suspended to the tree by a rope around his neck. Both feet of the deceased rested on the ground, with the legs considerably bent at the knees. A fine suit of black covered the remains, which had the appearance of having been there for a long time. This ended the sport for the day. The hunters returned to the city by the shortest route. Information of the discovery was lodged in the Coroner's office this morning, and a wagon dispatched to bring the body to the Morgue.

Interior California.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—The first number of the Panamint News was received this evening. Following items are from its local column:

During the week Panamint has had almost all kinds of weather. Snow fell to the depth of about one inch Saturday night; all disappeared now. Fine weather is now enjoyed, which is remarkable at this season of the year.

The town of Panamint now consists of 26 frame and board buildings, all covered and occupied, besides a large number of stockades and tents. Within the next month, if lumber can be had, at least one hundred buildings will be erected.

The trial of McDonald, wife murderer, closed at dark this evening, and the case was given to the jury. At 7 o'clock they returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, with imprisonment for life.

Last night a horse ran away with a little boy named Grey, dragging him by the foot several blocks. When picked up the boy was found to be literally scalped. At least half the scalp, the whole back part, was completely scraped and torn off. Will probably recover.

The Chamber of Commerce calls a mass meeting in the interest of a narrow gauge railway [illegible].

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—Some new apparatus is being [illegible] in this county and it is expected the yield of honey will be doubled in another year.

SIERRA CITY, Dec. 2.—A man by the name of Manuel Williams was killed in the Sierra Butte mill last night by being caught in the belt. His leg was entirely severed from his body. His age was about 23 years.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—The State Board of Examiners say at their last monthly counting of moneys in the State Treasury, made to include transactions of Nov. 30, 1874, they ascertained the amount required to be on hand, according to the books of the Comptroller, $1,057,655 03; amount on hand, $1,057,655 03, divided as follows, to-wit: Gold coin, $741,916; silver coin, $60,303 05; legal tenders, $[illegible]; warrants, $239,850 68. The Controller issued a warrant to-day in favor of the Gold Bank of D. O. Mills & Co., to the amount of $6,139 83 for the redemption of the civil bonds of 1857.

A BIG ROBBERY.

HOW AN OLD TRUNK CAME INTO AN EXPRESS OFFICE EMPTY, AND WENT OUT CONTAINING A FORTUNE.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, Nov. 16.]

Both the American and United States Express offices have fronts on both Front and Race streets. The Race street fronts of these offices are used for the receiving and shipping of goods. Of course, there are not many persons in the office—we speak now of the American—on Sunday. Yesterday afternoon, when the robbery of which we are to speak occurred, there were very few in the office. Between the hours of two and three, when the "trick" was taken, there were only two employes on duty in that part of the office fronting Race street, and, at the vital moment, only one. That particular one, a porter named Charles Moody, has been in the employ of the company only since July last. He is a comparatively "green" young man—we should judge so, at least.

ENTER THE LEADER.

While Mr. Moody was sitting at his post, quite alone and rather weary of the day, there entered Mr. Abe Monroe, a lame man, formerly a messenger of the company. Mr. Monroe was discharged a few months since for an irregularity in his accounts. He took a chair by the side of Moody, in an easy sort of a way, and remarked that he'd like a smoke. Moody couldn't accommodate him, and Monroe cleverly proceeded to gamble for the cigars—to "mark." Moody, being disposed to accommodate him, they marked, and Moody lost. Then Monroe being a lame man, and Moody requiring exercise, it was concluded that Moody should go across the street for the cigars. But perhaps we are ahead of our story a trifle. Right here, probably, should come in the

BLACK HORSE AND GREEN WAGON.

This drove up on Race at about this time. It was a rickety old green express wagon, drawn by a spavined, ringboned old black horse. It contained two men and a trunk. This trunk was empty, but when the two men carried it into the office they tugged at it for a "stall," as if it was heavily freighted. They set the trunk down, and remarked that they wanted it to go to the "old horse" corner. In express parlance "old horse" means unclaimed freight that has stood around for a long time. Moody went for the cigars, and in the short time of his absence Monroe captured

THE PLUNDER.

He selected from the lot of ordinary messengers' safes there one containing a large amount of money, $70,000, we understand on good authority. This safe was for the Chicago messenger, and was to have started for that city last night. It is supposed that one of the confederates stepped in again and helped him put the safe in the trunk. There is no doubt it was placed in the trunk during Moody's absence after the cigars. Moody returned with the cigars, and he and Monroe proceeded to have a nice smoke. While they were smoking, up drove the little old black horse, and the little, old green wagon again; and in came the same two men again. As they walked up, they stated, quietly, that they had made a mistake; that it was to the Adams they had to take the trunk. So they picked up the trunk and walked off with it. This time it took some honest tugging to carry it—rather more than they had made pretense of in the first place. They walked out with it quietly and in good order, placed it in the wagon, and drove off. Monroe disappeared also.

DISCOVERY OF THE ROBBERY.

The fact of the robbery did not come to light until 6 o'clock P. M., when the messenger who was to take this safe to Chicago drove up with his wagon and looked for his safe among the dozen that were piled up there. He couldn't find it. He tried his key to several, and it would fit none of them. But he soon became convinced that his safe was gone, because there was nothing there that resembled it. This safe was new and freshly painted, with broad bands. There was no such safe there. Then the porter told the story of Monroe, the little old express wagon, and the little old black horse, the trunk that was to have been been left and wasn't left, and the cigars. And, finally, he confessed to having seen a safe in the trunk as the trunk went out.

The telegraph lines were immediately set to work, that all trains out from the city might be searched. Colonel Kiersted set the city forces on the watch. At about eleven o'clock Meade and White got on the track of the horse and wagon. They belonged to a man named Brown, in the Nineteenth Ward. They had been seen by a lot of boys at the corner of Third and Elm streets, as they drove up Elm street, coming toward the express office, and the boys had hooted at the shabby old turnout. But where they had gone after that, nobody could tell—at least nobody that might be disposed to tell. It had passed away quietly, with its magnificent freight, without attracting attention or suspicion.

EXIT MULLETT.

THE QUARREL BETWEEN SECRETARY BRISTOW AND HIMSELF—HIS RESIGNATION.

CAUSE OF THE RESIGNATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Secretary Bristow, being asked the cause of Supervising Architect Mullett's resignation, pointed to the revised statutes, which direct that the Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department shall act as Superintendent of the Treasury Building, and that no account for contingent expenses shall be allowed except on a certificate by the Clerk that they are necessary and proper, just and reasonable; all expenditures for furniture being subject to approval by the Secretary of the Treasury. It appears that Mullett has been in the habit of controlling this contingent fund, amounting to about $100,000, and when his attention was called to the law he said he would rather resign than lose control of this fund. The Secretary remarked that he was only doing his duty, in accordance with the law, and that if Mullett was not willing to be governed by the law he would accept his resignation, which Mullett accordingly prepared and it was accepted. The Secretary did not express any want of confidence in Mullett.

THE REAL REASON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A Times' Washington special says the real difficulty between Secretary Bristow and Mullett is much more remote than any controversy about Treasury furniture. The Architect's office has had rather an abnormal connection with the Treasury Department, and Mullett has exercised, during several years, almost absolute authority in his Bureau. Secretary Bristow differs from Mullett in the policy of constructing costly public buildings. While he does not object to large expenditures and fine buildings in some of the most important cities, like New York, he doubts the expediency of building elaborate and costly structures all over the country, but thinks that plainer and substantial buildings would be more in accordance with the wants of the Government, and that for the same expenditure a greater number of buildings should be erected.

The New York Herald thus notices Edward Creighton, the Nebraska millionaire, whose death occurred lately:

His name was made famous by a great feat which he performed in successfully completing the electric chain between the Missouri river and the Pacific ocean. The feat was just as remarkable in its day as was the successful laying of the first cable across the Atlantic. It made Edward Creighton immortal. The Pacific telegraph was the pioneer to civilization in the trans-Missouri territory. In making Omaha the initial point of the Pacific telegraph, Edward Creighton virtually made her the initial point of the Union Pacific. A man of rugged intellect and unbending will, self-reliant and self-educated, Edward Creighton was eminently a self-made man. Beginning with muscle as his principal stock in trade, he died from over exertion of his brain power. Beginning as a poor workingman, he died a millionaire.

A recent shooting affair at Vicksburg between two persons who had scarcely ever met before, grew out of a remark by one of them that he had a very poor opinion of a man who would work for a salary.

Women's rights are not entirely ignored in Italy. Virginia Scarpellini is directress of the meteorological station at the capitol (Rome), founded by her aunt Coterina, who died last year, and the stations at Lugo and Montecchio are also directed by ladies.

Col. Harlow, the Illinois Secretary of State, occupies the house at Springfield formerly owned by Abraham Lincoln, and is trying to preserve it and the premises much as they were during Lincoln's life, but relic-hunters have carried off nearly all the picket fence.

During the last summer, the "Flower mission" of St. Louis has been instrumental in distributing 8,015 bouquets, over 1,000 pounds of grapes and berries, and a large quantity of pears and peaches. Hospitals, prisons, workhouses, and manufacturing establishments have been brightened by the visits of the "missions."

The town of Youngstown, Ohio, had a lot of seven per cent. bonds printed about two years ago, but, as the rate of interest was too low, they were never negotiated. Two of them were, however, recently presented for payment, and it is now found that $35,000 worth of the issue, which was placed in the hands of the city clerk without being properly canceled, have been stolen.

A New York dry-goods house, whose stock was appraised to have been damaged to the extent of $3,000 by a fire which occurred over their store recently, surprised the six insurance companies who had paid the loss by sending them each a check for $398 78. A note accompanying the check stated that the goods had proved to have been less injured than at first supposed.

Business men in Quebec have imbibed the notion that the St. Lawrence river can be kept open for navigation during the winter, and propose to ask the aid of the Dominion Government to accomplish that end. We have not seen any statement of the means to be employed. Perhaps the ingenious gentleman who formulated a plan for keeping the water in the Erie Canal warm by the use of steam-pipes has emigrated to Canada.

Now that the Centennial Commissioners have abandoned all intention of asking Congress for an appropriation, they can appeal to the public with a better grace and prospect of securing a favorable response. The Boston merchants have taken the matter in hand with their accustomed energy, and at a public meeting held recently the proposed plan for celebrating the national centenary was deliberately indorsed, and by resolution a pledge was given that the quota of the State should be speedily subscribed.

GENERAL NOTES.

What is that which, by losing an eye, has only a nose left? A noise.

Public spirit—Readiness to do anything which is likely to prove lucrative.

The London Saturday Review cynically says: "It may be hoped that even under a municipal corporation London will not sink to the level of New York.

It is pretty generally recognized, says the Saturday Review, that few ties in life are more trying than that which unites a couple of traveling companions.

ADMINISTRATION ORGANS.

Under the above caption the New York Herald offers some sensible and timely remarks suggested by the course of the administration in trying to crush out the Times for its independence:

One of our contemporaries which has a peculiar interest in the subject gives some sound advice to the President in regard to organs. It was at one time itself understood to be an organ of the administration; but it was not a servile organ. It advocated many points in the Executive tactics, [illegible] and defended others; but where there were points which seemed indefensible it spoke against them with vigorous [illegible]. Its advocacy for this very reason had some weight with the public, but its freedom gave mortal offense at Washington, and an out-and out organ was established, which it was thought would ruin the journal that had even a moderate independence of spirit. People at Washington evidently do not understand that the days of organs are gone by; that an intelligent people will pay no attention to the support of a journal that has no option to support or oppose; has no freedom of opinion, but must support, in every instance, every measure. They are likely to discover, however, that in misunderstandings between governments and newspapers the journal can do without the government a great deal better than the government can do without the journal. Indeed, any relationship whatever in the nature of pledged support is a burden and an embarrassment to the journal, while it is of incalculable value to the government. If there is any wisdom in Washington the tactics which resulted in the exclusion of our contemporary from favor will be revised, for if the Democrats push the notion of impeachment the government will need intelligent advocates before the people.

THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE STILL IN DOUBT.—WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Advices from Florida as to the status of the Legislature are very much mixed. It has been claimed by the Democrats that they have a majority of 3 on joint ballot, while the Republicans claim a majority of 5. It is learned from a gentleman just arrived from Florida that the political complexion of the Legislature depends on the votes of two counties not officially returned, with the probability in favor of a Democratic majority, which will elect a Democrat to succeed Senator Gilbert in the United States Senate.

DEATH OF CAMORS.—The fast trotter Camors, one of the $40,000 team purchased lately in the East by Budd Doble, for E. J. Baldwin, of this city, succumbed to an attack of lung fever yesterday. He was considered by horsemen to be one of the finest horses on the turf, and would certainly as a roadster have been unapproachable by any horse at present driven as such in this vicinity. Mr. Baldwin, whose luck seems to be a little off just now, has instructed Mr. Doble to purchase another mate for St. James.—S. F. Call, Nov. 27.

EXPECTED RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY FISH.—NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A Herald's Washington special says that it is understood that Secretary Fish will retire from the Cabinet early in December. His health will no longer permit him to remain in public life, and his physicians say that unless he has a change he may be stricken with apoplexy at any moment. His successor is not decided upon, but it is believed that the President intends tendering the appointment to Blaine.

The official returns of the vote for Delegate have been received from all the counties, and Judge Jacobs' majority is 1,200, the largest ever gained by a candidate in Washington Territory. It is a good thing for a candidate to be known as an upright man.

The Courier, of last Tuesday, says: "The vote to-day on the proposition to levy a tax of 1½ mills on the dollar on city property for the benefit of the Fair Association, has been very light. The Seattle correspondent of the Courier says: "There is some buzzing about iron and lead being found in or near the Green river country in this county. The lead is reported so pure that bullets have been made from it as it came from the mines. There is uncertainty enough to make the whole thing mysterious. When facts are more fully ascertained we will report."

Gen. Jordan, formerly stationed at the Dalles, writes a long letter to the Walla Walla Statesman, mostly about himself. He claims to have been the first to introduce [illegible] boats on the Upper Columbia. Jordan was a U. S. army officer, but resigned to help the Confederacy, and after that collapsed joined the insurgents in Cuba and his command gained some important victories over the Spaniards. He is now retired and lives in New York.

THE INDIAN REPORT.—The annual report of the Commissioner of the Indian Bureau has been prepared and is a generally satisfactory statement of the condition of these "wards of the nation" during the past year. The Commissioner has little to say regarding the recent [illegible] except to express his commendation of the policy of punishing the marauding [illegible], in pursuance of which General Miles and other expeditions inflicted sharp chastisement on the Kiowas, Comanches, and Arapahoes, who had been raiding and slaughtering in Texas and New Mexico. The proper mode of treating [illegible] whom he classes as wild and [illegible] in the Commissioner's view, to feed [illegible] while they are peaceable and punish them promptly and severely when they take to the war-path against the whites. Of the other divisions of Indians, classified as more or less civilized, and comprising the large majority of the whole number, the Commissioner speaks most encouragingly in respect to their permanent location on reservations, and their disposition to farming and the pursuits of peace. He recommends new legislation by Congress for the purpose of extending the jurisdiction of national and State law over the Indians, and as far as possible making them amenable to courts of justice, the same as ordinary citizens.

THE WAY IT WAS DONE.—Washington, Nov. 26.—There is great anxiety here to know the verdict in the safe-burglary case. Harrington, Whitely, Nettleship and several of their friends were on watch last night, while a number of the memorialists show a similar interest. It is reported, with some show of correctness, that three or four notes have passed between the jury-room window and Harrington's friends. A morning paper declares that the jury stand ten for acquittal and two for conviction. The authority for the statement is, that several persons who were standing within hearing of the jury-room window, which was open, heard the exclamation, "Are you two blokes going to stand out against us ten gentlemen all night?" Card-playing, psalm-singing and discussions occupied the time of the jury. Harrington's office and that of Christy, counsel for the memorialists, are directly in view of the window of the jury-room, and about 20 rods distant, and rumors of sign-telegraphing between them and the jury-room are prevalent.

REFORMED CHURCH CONFERENCE.—Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—The joint committees of the Reformed Church Conference reassembled this afternoon. Rev. Franklin B. Leavan, from the committee of the Reformed Church, United States, offered the following general plan of union: First, organic union, second, the Heidleberg Catechism to the common standard; third, the Belgic Confession and the Articles of Diet to be considered of great importance and of authority next to the Heidleberg Catechism, fourth, a general Synod, with powers limited and defined, without action. A sub-committee of three was appointed from each committee to draw up a paper expressive of the result reached.

DEATH OF F. J. THIBAULT.—Frederick James Thibault, a well known and [illegible] Notary Public and an old pioneer, died at 4 o'clock on Wednesday morning, after a lingering illness. OREGON.

Mr. John Ford, of Salem, had a slight attack of paralysis on last Tuesday.

Baker City claims to have 1,000 inhabitants, and to be the Eastern entrepot to Oregon.

The State Librarian received 79 large volumes from Washington this week. They are the recent edition of the U. S. Statutes.

The Board of Directors of the Home Manufacturing Company was to meet at Salem Wednesday, Dec. 2d, to fix the location of their works.

An examination of the sunken steamer Shoshone showed that she had several holes in her hull, and she appears to have sunk on a patch of snags.

The Bedrock Democrat thinks that Baker county, with proper development, at no distant day will become one of the most populous and wealthy counties in the State.

A report by the Mayor of Salem on the financial condition of the city, shows that since January 1st up to December 1st, warrants had been drawn on the Treasury for $11,286 19, including $1,000 for the water of last year and the pay[ment] on the fire bell. There has [been] $10,735 24 collected during the same time, and there is still due the city on unpaid taxes and licenses the sum of $1,735 29, m[ak]ing the revenue of the city to us for $2,182 26 in excess of the expenditures.

Now here is the biggest lie on record, which comes from the New York World: "It has been affirmed that when a New England schoolmistress arrives in an Oregon town she is waited upon by the entire adult male population and proposed for by each in due form, and this serious competition [illegible] in a game of all fours between the parson and the justice of the peace, the winner taking the schoolma'am and the rest of the competitors going out on the prairie to swear. It is indeed said that of several cargoes of young [illegible] sent some years since from New England to the Pacific coast most of them were proposed for through speaking trumpets as soon as the steamer came within speaking distance of the wharf."

BOOTH'S BANKRUPTCY AND OAKES A[MES'] EXECUTORS.

The sale of Booth's Theater under foreclosure, announced for the third time, was yesterday again indefinitely postponed, the mortgage creditors having become satisfied that their interest may be better subserved by delaying the sale. The mortgage debt of Edwin Booth's assigned estate is $475,000. Discounted notes, accommodation paper, and open accounts increase the sum total to about [illegible],000.

The actor's embarrassment culminated at the time of the panic of last year, when the holders of the third and smallest mortgages called in their loans, and foreclosure followed. The proceedings were temporarily stayed by the purchase of these mortgages by Oakes Ames' executors, the [illegible] of the Massachusetts shovel-maker being the largest mortgage creditor. At that time it was hoped that a speedy reaction of values might so improve the value of the theater that enough might be realized, even under a forced sale, to satisfy the creditors.

The building and ground cost nearly $1,000,000, half of which Mr. Booth paid in his own hard-earned cash. It is assessed at $500,000, and the rooms and the [illegible] pay interest on a valuation of $600,000. The [illegible] are wholly at the [illegible] of Oakes Ames' executors, and as the [illegible] in bankruptcy sees fit to ins[illegible] and [illegible] its immediate sale in the interest of unsecured [illegible].—*N. WHAT A BRAVE WIFE MRS. GENERAL SHERMAN HAS BEEN.—I have a case in point as to the manner in which he was frequently imposed upon. Of course the citizens of Louisville recollect that, when Sherman was in command of that department, he was accused of insanity. He could not receive any answer from Gen. McClellan to his dispatches. Mrs. Sherman came to Washington and called upon the President. She stated that for more than twelve years she had been General Sherman's wife, and, if any one was capable of judging as to the soundness of his mind, it would be herself. She declared that there had never been the slightest indication of insanity, though they might drive him to it; that, if he was insane, she would be the first to withdraw him from the public gaze; but so far from desiring that, she asked that he might be intrusted with anything that was difficult, or that was becoming his rank. Lincoln's reply to this was that "Gen. Sherman's dispatches were not those of a sane man." Mrs. Sherman was astounded. After leaving the President she went to the War Department, and requested a copy of her husband's dispatches. After obtaining these, she again called upon the President. When Lincoln read those papers he said that they were not at all what they had been represented to him. This was the kind of work that was being done in the War Department, where we needed every good officer, and by the light of to-day we can see how few there were as valuable as Sherman; and yet the country would have lost his services if his wife had not been the brave, determined woman she was. Chase took a bold stand at that time in saving Sherman, and I heard General Sherman, at his daughter's wedding, say the most graceful and felicitous things to Mrs. Sprague personally, and in allusion to her father, knowing that kind recollections of him would be the sweetest theme for his daughter's ears.—Washington Correspondence Courier-Journal.

ARMY SURGEONS.—A General Order has been issued defining the duties of an Army Surgeon on post duty, as follows:

He shall, at least once a month, examine and note in the medical history of the post the sanitary condition of the quarters, including all buildings belonging to the post, and the character and cooking of rations, the amount and quality of the water supplied, clothing and habits of the men, and make a report thereon in writing to the commanding officer, with such recommendations as he may deem proper. If the recommendations be approved and carried out, the medical officer shall enter it in the medical history of the post. If the action recommended be deemed impracticable or undesirable, the commanding officer shall endorse his objections on the report and forward it to the Department Commander; a copy of such endorsement shall be furnished to the medical officer, who shall record it in the medical history of the post.

Now let the organs go for the New York Times or any other "copperhead" newspaper which dares to give utterance to such sentiments as these:

It may be political heresy, but we confess that the division of the negro vote is to us an encouraging fact in the recent elections. It is especially encouraging when, as in South Carolina, the division was effected by an appeal to the negroes to rebel against their former leaders in order to secure honest government. When the negro gives his vote on that ground, whether he is cheated or not, and ceases to give it under control of a dread or hatred of his former master, he has made a long advance in the direction of becoming a useful citizen.

MULLETT NOT YET GOT RID OF.—New York, Nov. 25.—Washington dispatches say that Mullett's resignation is made to take effect on the appointment of his successor, and as it is improbable that a man of sufficient ability can be found to take the position at a salary of $6,000 yearly, Mullett's tenure of office seems likely to be extended indefinitely, as was Collector Casey's, of New Orleans, whose resignation in similar terms has been in the hands of the President nearly three years.

In New Jersey there are some difficulties in counting, and votes for Phelps are thrown out because they are written with [illegible], thus: "Wm. W. Phelps." Phelps says he writes his name that way on his checks, and the Democrat says its appearance in that form on his checks may have been what misled his supporters.—New York Herald.

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 3, 1874.

A CALL OF HUMANITY.

Last winter there were great freshets in some of the Southern rivers, whereby some lives were lost and much property destroyed. The floods were especially destructive in Alabama, and much suffering resulted among those whose possessions were swept away. An appeal was made to Government for relief for the sufferers, and was responded to to the amount of nearly $800,000. So far as we are informed all parties agree to the propriety of giving assistance by the Government. It was a calamity that fell upon a community of American citizens who were unable to meet it unaided, and the only way to make all the country contribute in proper proportion to relieve the distress was to consider it a matter of Governmental concern.

Since the adjournment of Congress a greater calamity has befallen a vastly larger portion of the people of the Republic. We refer to the grasshopper plague. Large sections of the States of Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska have been completely eaten out by the armies of grasshoppers. Not along the banks of the streams, as in the case of the Alabama deluge, but over the vast plains and uplands, everywhere for miles on miles spread the inundation of insects, and wheresoever it passed there was no green thing left. The very earliest crops in some places had matured and were saved, while in other localities the insects came before any of the crops had ripened, and everything was taken. Everywhere the corn crops, which are the chief support of the people, were devoured. There are large sections of country thickly settled that were not even spared sufficient of the crops for seed. The suffering is represented to be very great. The regions visited by the grasshoppers has rigorous winters and late springs. It can not but be the case that as the cold becomes intense the suffering will increase, and many who start into the winter with the means of keeping their families comfortable for a time, will be in distress long before the tardy coming of the spring. And then when spring does come, what? How are these poor people to start in for the next crops? They have been compelled to part with their teams and their stock cattle to buy food, or seen them die of starvation. They have not the grain to [illegible] their fields. They are too poor to buy seed, too poor to begin again on their farms, too poor to get away.

The attention of the State Legislatures has been called to the necessity of taking active measures to relieve the distress of these sufferers. They will doubtless do something, as the Legislature of Alabama would gladly have done for the sufferers by the flood. But such aid is said to be incomplete.

This is a case that appeals to the general government. It should be met [illegible]. Congress will [illegible] next Monday, and by prompt action can save many of the unfortunate people from much of the distress that must otherwise overtake them during the winter, and seed can be provided for their fields in time for the opening spring. There is no better statesmanship than that which devotes itself to making the poor happy, and there is certainly no better way to accomplish that end than by giving food to the hungry, and shelter to the [illegible], and enabling the producer of the staff of life to perform his work in spite of events that would discourage and prostrate him. This is Christian statesmanship, which is the only true statesmanship possible.

QUIEN SABE?

Boss Tweed has escaped. The particulars of the occurrence are not given. We only know that he made his escape while returning to his prison from the city, whither he had been taken for the purpose of being present at the argument of the motion made by his counsel in relation to his imprisonment under successive sentences. And as we know positively nothing of the particulars, and there is ample room for conjecture, we offer the following surmises as to details: Boss Tweed's first sentence of one year expired; he was under sentence for other terms of one year each, to follow each other in succession. Here was an opportunity to make a [illegible] such successive terms to be illegal, could [illegible] have him brought before the Court—out of prison; then there would be such a chance for accidents! A boat could be lying just at hand, for instance, into which he could leap in spite of the effort of his custodians, and the lawless scoundrels who were in the boat, thinking of the gold and silver that the Boss was able to bestow on them, could make away regardless of [illegible] and his assistants, who might stand petrified with surprise and [illegible] the habeas corpus would never be heard, but it would be won nevertheless. These are the merest conjectures, of course.

MEETING OF RAILWAY MAGNATES.

There was a meeting of railway magnates in Baltimore on November 12th, which is supposed to have much significance. Among those present were Col. Thomas Scott, Commodore Vanderbilt, H. J. Jewett, and several others of scarcely less prominence in railway circles. A protracted interview was held at the Mount Vernon Hotel, from which reporters were excluded. It is conjectured the meeting had reference to matters to be presented to Congress this winter. Col. Scott is working the Southern transcontinental road, and desires to exchange his land subsidy for a money subsidy. The North Pacific Company, which was represented in the conference, wants similar assistance. What other schemes were to be considered, does not [illegible]. It has come to be understood that in order to secure any legislation for railways harmony among the different interests must be had, as the least opposition from railway quarters is fatal to any project of the kind.

Hon. William Forster and Sir T. Fowell Buxton, members of the British Parliament, are examining the school system of America.

BEECHER ON THE "FALL."

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, we take it, does not believe very fully in the idea that all mankind are held responsible for a sin committed by Adam, and that in order to give force to this responsibility the human race was hurled from an [illegible] of light, knowledge and happiness to one of sinfulness and misery. This is what he had to say about the "fall" in his discourse of November 15th:

I think the facts of history will state that the human race came on to the globe at an exceedingly low point. Men were created—I will not say, following the imaginations of the scientific men—I shall suffice it to say that men were created at the very minimum point of humanity as near to zero as it is possible for them to be; and historically the unfolding has been very gradual; that they have, beginning with very little knowledge, come up in knowledge of agriculture, knowledge of the mechanical arts, of legislation, of manufacturing industries, of commerce, of civil polity, of the organization of men into states. There has been, as to created matter, an advance from a very low point up to the present condition of humanity. In every condition, instead of men having given evidence of falling from a high condition, they give evidence that they come from the very slenderest, and so the facts are that man was created from the bottom and the divine scheme has been to take men from their universal point, and spell out little by little the civilization of the present day.

Up to the present time there has been expended in the construction of the new custom house at Chicago $1,670,000. It is encouraging to be informed by the Superintendent of Construction that "the east front is up to the commencement of the second story, and the foundations and piers are in for the west front." The Superintendent naively remarks that "the completion of the building is contingent upon future appropriations." All of which suggests a problem which Kike Lumsden's schoolmaster would work by the "rule o' thray," to-wit: If it costs $1,670,000 to make a bunghole, how much will it cost to build the barrel around it?

Another Arctic expedition under the auspices of the English Government is to sail next May, commanded by Captain Markham of the Royal Navy. The expedition will consist of two steamships, with such means of making special journeys and voyages in the polar regions as past experience has shown to be convenient.

A London telegram of November 18, says the decrease of emigration from Germany is so great as to render a reduction of the German transatlantic fleets convenient, and that the Chairman of the North German Lloyds is in England trying to dispose of some of their surplus steamships.

At the recent exhibition in the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, the receipts were $91,000, and the expenses $35,000. It is the intention of the managers to erect an exhibition building appropriate to the wants of the institution.

The Washington Chronicle is authority for saying that Congressman Kelley of Pennsylvania, of the Ways and Means Committee, expressed the opinion that Congress will not be inclined to tinker the tariff law this winter.

A TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN.

Emilio Castelar, the talented Spanish Republican, pays this handsome tribute to Abraham Lincoln:

DeFoe's hero (Robinson Crusoe) is no fantastic one. When we pause to contemplate that poor Quaker, reared in the wilderness, born in a cabin, with no patrimony but his liberty, and no education but his Bible, the wood-chopper in the primitive forests of North America, the boatman on the waters of the Ohio and the Mississippi, who, through the force of his sovereign will and a miracle of his democratic republic, burst the fetters of circumstance, and rose through the obstructions of society to the summit of the modern world, the Capitol at Washington, to be there the Moses and redeemer of the negroes, to bury the last remains of a barbarous patriciate, and to break the last fetters of slavery, we cannot but recognize that the hero of the novel of the eighteenth century, the solitary worker who creates an existence for himself by inner struggles, and who subjugates nature to his hand and law to his thought, is a living reality in the glorious history of our modern liberties. The book could not fail to impress its time; and the generations which received and devoured it, because its message was that there are no elements strong enough to resist the human will when it is employed with energy and educated with perseverance.

Here are some figures which we commend to careful consideration of the Democratic organs. One look at them we judge will [illegible]fy the organs that the "dead thing" the Democrats have on the next Presidency is one of the "dead things" that are apt to crawl:

The vote for Lieutenant Governor, at the late election in Pennsylvania, was, in round numbers, 277,000 for Latta and 272,000 for Olmsted. The vote for Governor, two years ago was, was 353,000 Republican to 317,000 Democratic. This shows that while the Democratic vote fell off only 40,000 the Republican vote decreased 81,000. The same result is apparent in Illinois, and in New York. In the former State the total vote fell off 68,000, and of this number the Republicans lose 40,000, and the Democrats only 28,000.

This, which we find in the Republic, is about as sharp a piece of satire as the most cynical critic of the President has aimed at him:

The Civil Service Commissioners are very confident that the President, in his message to Congress, will again recommend an appropriation for the purposes of the Commission, which was defeated last year. The President is understood not to have changed his policy as regards civil service in any respect, and to look with disfavor upon the imperfect manner in which the civil service rules have been executed in some localities.

Several times lately the telegraph has told of circumstances showing to what magnificent lengths the freedom of the press is tolerated in continental Europe. Here is the last:

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The editors of all the Vienna journals, including the Presse and Official Gazette, have been summoned before the District Tribunal, upon a requisition from Count Wurzberg, for prematurely publishing the full text of Kullman's indictment. The editor of the Presse refuses to indicate where and how he obtained the document.

NEW GERMAN OATS.

LEWIS RIVER, COWLITZ COUNTY,
Pekin P. O., Nov. 28, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Presuming that newspaper men are not averse to giving publicity to material facts in regard to the products of our soil, I have thought to give you a statement for publication, of the result of my three year's experiments with a new variety of oats which I name the New German Oats.

I commenced experimenting with these oats three years ago, and have tried them on both bottom and uplands where they do equally well. As my bottom lands are subject to overflow at the time of the June freshet of the Columbia, I was anxious to find a variety of oats that would withstand high water. After subjecting them to the test of high water for the last three years, I find that they will stand an overflow of from four to six feet of water, for the length of four to five weeks each year, and then fill and mature into an excellent crop. I have also raised them on my uplands, where they do extraordinarily well.

These oats yield, on an average, fifty bushels (measurement) to the acre, and weigh 44 lbs to the bushel. They possess the advantage of bringing a crop if sowed either in the fall or spring; but I prefer fall sowing. They possess the advantage also of self propagation. I raised, in one field, three crops from one sowing. If sown in the fall it bunches out, and many stalks come from one seed. They will also stand late fall pasturing and mature for early harvest. They grow a heavy crop of straw—standing on an average from 6 to 7 feet in height—being at least a foot higher than any other species of oats, sown side by side with them.

THE TRANSIT OF VENUS!

OF DECEMBER 8th, 1874,

Will be the topic of a

Lecture, by Rev. T. L. Eliot,

AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH,

Corner of Yamhill and Seventh sts.

On Monday Evening, Dec. 7, at 7½ o'clock.

THE GREATEST ASTRONOMICAL EVENT OF the century is the coming Transit of Venus across the Sun's disc, to which the scientific world has been looking forward for twenty years with unprecedented interest.

Seventy-five Expeditions, costing Two Millions of Dollars attest the liberality of various governments, and their sense of the importance to science of the observations contemplated. An accurate Astronomical UNIT of MEASURE, is by these combined efforts to be given to the world. In the lecture, which is to be illustrated by diagrams, will be given a brief history of celestial measurements; an account of the methods to be employed, and the difficulties to be overcome, in the Transit observation; and the direct bearing of anticipated results upon Astronomy and Geodesy.

Admission 50c.—The proceeds to be given to the Church Building Fund.

Unitarian Church, Monday Evening, Dec. 7th.

THE CITY.

...DEATH.—Mr. Otto Treuer, a well-known citizen of Portland, died very suddenly last evening about 5:30 o'clock. ... weeks past Mr. Treuer has not been in good health. Of late he complained considerably of feeling a heavy depression about the heart, and experienced great difficulty in breathing. About three days before his death, he was examined by Dr. Shumacher, who found his heart and lungs very much affected. Yesterday deceased was walking about as usual, although he looked feeble and was complaining. About half-past five last evening, Dr. Shumacher ... to be passing down First street, and saw Treuer standing at the foot of the stairway leading up into Ankeny's Hall, leaning against the side of the building. He ... at the time. Dr. Shumacher came up to him and asked him how he felt. Treuer replied that he felt very bad, and wished to have the doctor accompany him to his saloon. The two started, but after going a dozen steps, Treuer complained of feeling faint, and asked Dr. Shumacher to let him sit down on the stairway for a moment. He assisted him to take a seat, and called to a gentleman who happened to be passing at the moment, to come and hold Mr. Treuer. The gentleman did as requested, and the doctor ran into Mr. Smith's drug store, which is at the corner, to get some ... He returned inside of a minute, but the vital spark was fled. NEW GERMAN OATS.—Farmers should read ... the New German Oats, published to-day. Mr. Goerig has been living in this country for 20 years and is well known as a reliable man. He informs us that he has refrained thus long from calling public attention to these oats, because he wanted first to be sure that they were good for any season; and now, after three years trial, he feels safe in saying so much in their favor as he says in his letter. The seed was sent to him from Germany by a gentleman who recommended them for low lands and for fall sowing. Mr. Goerig says they are just the thing for overflowed lands, suffering no damage at all from the water standing upon them, provided it can run off the ground at last.

TAKEN ILL.—During Tuesday night, the woman Stromeir, confined in the city jail, was taken quite ill with hysterics, to which ailment it seems she is subject. The woman swooned away several times, in restoring her from which, considerable difficulty was experienced. Along toward morning the woman grew better, and after her husband furnished the required bail, she was able to accompany him home.

THE BEST SAILING TIME.—A gentleman (Will Ogden) informs us that he was a passenger on the Jane A. Falkinburg in 1861, Capt. Flavel in command, when that vessel left the bar at 7 A. M. Monday, and on Wednesday evening 6 P. M. of the same week dropped anchor at Market street wharf, San Francisco—time, 59 hours. This is beyond question the quickest time ever made by a sailing vessel between these ports.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland Oregon, December 2, 1874:

	7 A. M.	2 P. M.	9 P. M.
Thermometer	45°	49°	48°
Wind, direction	Calm.	W.	S.
" velocity	"	2	6

Minimum temperature			44°

MILA BOND.—This schooner which many persons have believed to be on the way to this port and considerably overdue, had not sailed from Tillamook bay on the 26th ult. The vessel was prepared to sail, but owing to a rough bar Capt. Como decided not to leave, and he was waiting for clear weather, our informant states, for a chance to get out.

RELEASED ON BAIL.—In the Police Court yesterday morning, the case of State vs. Chas. Harris was called for examination. The defendant is charged with an assault with a dangerous weapon. He waived an examination, and was held to answer the charge before the grand jury in the sum of $100. Necessary bonds being furnished, the defendant was released.

C... TO ITALY.—We regret to announce that it is the intention of Mr. Howard Campion to leave Portland for a visit of a year or more in Italy. His studio in Portland will not be closed until the first week in January, until which time he will accept orders.

Major John Green, 1st Cavalry, is detailed as member of the Board of Survey, instituted by Special Orders No. 164, paragraph 2, current series, vice Major Bachelder relieved.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Jos. Buchtel, the well-known photographer, is expected to arrive in Portland in a few weeks from an extended trip East.

Rev. J. D. Eaton, Pastor of the First Congregational Church, who has been East for several months, is expected to return in a few days.

Mr. Chas. E. Calef, who has been confined to the house for some days with a severe attack of rheumatism, is again able to appear on the streets.

W. S. Ladd, who, with his family, has been visiting his relatives East for a number of months, will start for his home in this city about the 10th inst.

Gen. Jeff. C. Davis is now stationed at Omaha Barracks. He has command of six companies of the 23d Infantry and two of Cavalry. Capt. O. W. Pollock is also stationed at Omaha.

We are pleased to state that the condition of Hon. Jos. N. Dolph is such as to admit of strong hopes of ultimate recovery. Yesterday he was resting quite easy. Charles Parkins, who has been ill for a long time, is reported to be slowly improving. Gen. N. Michler, we regret to say, has been confined to his house with a severe cold for several days.

In addition to their large and varied assortment of brooms, brushes, wood and willow ware, Zan Bros. & Co. have just opened the greatest variety of bird cages and door mats ever seen in Portland. The stock is immense and the variety almost infinite.

Call this evening at Beck & Waldman's, and have them show you through their immense stock of winter clothing, underwear, etc. They propose to do the right thing by all who patronize them. Try this firm.

Tom O'Brien awaits your order at his cozy cigar stand, First and Stark streets.

That lot 25 by 200, between Front and First and Salmon and Main streets, which DeLashmutt & Oatman are offering for $2,625, is certainly a bargain. It is only one case out of many where the fire took the man's all, and, consequently, he is compelled to sell.

Colonel Joe Meek will tell you this evening at Museum Hall, in his odd and mirthful way, what he knows about Indians, Mountain-men and Pioneers. You will hear something worth listening to, and much that will force you to laugh.

COMMON COUNCIL.

[REGULAR MEETING, DEC. 2, 1874.]

The Council met last evening at the usual hour, His Honor Mayor Failing in the Chair.

Members present—Catlin, Corbett, Hoyt, Lyon, Story, Thompson.

Absent—Besser, Moreland, Russell.

Minutes of the last regular meeting read and approved.

[Councilman Moreland appeared and took his seat.]

PETITIONS.

From James McKay, asking permission to construct, at his own expense, a sewer in front of his property, situated near the corner of Fourth and Yamhill streets. Referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

From R. S. McLeran and 106 others, asking for the passage of an ordinance to prohibit steamboats from whistling either in leaving or approaching the wharves, as the same was regarded as a public nuisance. Referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

From J. Kraemer and others, in relation to the Hebrew Cemetery in the southern portion of the city. Read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

A communication was read from William Zimmerman, asking permission to lease the ground now occupied by the old city jail for the term of five years. Placed on file.

From W. H. Anderson, submitting a proposition to clean the streets by machinery. Petitioner offered to clean six miles of streets for the sum of $900 per month, and to commence operations within thirty days from the acceptance of his proposition. Referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

REPORTS.

From the Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom was referred the ordinance for the relief of Geo. H. Clarke, recommending that the passage of the ordinance referred to be indefinitely postponed. Adopted.

From the Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of L. H. Lewis, City Treasurer, in relation to the increase of his salary. The Committee recommended that further consideration of the petition be postponed indefinitely. Adopted.

[Councilman Besser appeared and took his seat.]

The Auditor submitted a report to the effect that the City Assessor had completed and filed in his office the assessment roll, and that due notice of the same had been given. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

CLAIMS.

The following claims against the city were ordered paid: W. S. Halpruner, $80 70 and $94; J. J. Robinson, $271 30; D. W. Taylor, $150; J. H. Butler, $20 and $12; H. W. Corbett, $20; J. H. Lappeus, $100 50; G. W. Vaughn, $50; John Barrett, $2 50; J. C. Atwood, $32 35; W. T. Besser, $31 50; P. G. Baker, $216 50; J. D. Drew, $93 87 and $108 72; A. Hamilton, $126 03 and $33 75; P. G. ORDINANCES.

An ordinance making appropriation out of the General Fund for the relief of certain persons was read first, second and third time and passed.

An ordinance making an appropriation of $45 out of the fund arising from the sale of Fire Department bonds was read first time and laid over.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the Police Fund, was read first, second and third time and passed.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the Street Lamp Fund, was read first, second and third time and passed.

An ordinance to authorize the Committee on Streets and Public Property to make a certain contract, was read twice and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

An ordinance authorizing a contract with the Portland Gaslight Company for lighting the street lamps, was read third time and passed.

An ordinance relating to the duties and compensation of the City Assessor, was read third time and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

AUTHORIZATIONS.

That the Committee on Streets and Public Property be authorized to expend the sum of $130 for the erection of street lamps in certain portions of the city; the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses to expend the sum of $100 for stationery for the use of the several departments; that the Committee on Fire and Water expend the sum of $100 for the purchase of hooks and ladders for the use of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1.

RESOLUTIONS.

Councilman Moreland offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be instructed to ascertain from the county commissioners whether some arrangements cannot be made with the county to repay the city for the board of prisoners accused of State offenses, who are confined in the city jail pending trial and examination.

Council adjourned.

FASHIONABLE OUTFITS.—Attention is again called to the extraordinary opportunities which are just now being afforded by the extensive clothing house of JOS. KOHN, opposite National Bank. There is no place in the State where a larger or finer assortment both for gentlemen, boys and children will be found. At all times the prices have been the lowest known to the market, but at the present time it will be found that they have been greatly reduced. Mr. Kohn keeps constantly on hand a large and superior stock of furnishing goods and underwear.

PAUSE WHILE YOU READ THIS! The season for parties and balls has arrived and the cold dreary days and nights of winter will soon visit us. Every young man, old man and boy for that matter, likes to present a neat appearance when attending parties, the theater, or walking about the streets. They likewise desire to be well provided against the cold blasts of snow and rain. What contributes more to the personal appearance and comfort of a gentleman, or boy, than a nice closely fitting suit of clothes, set off with a heavy warm overcoat? Why will any one be so foolish as to go without either, when BECK & WALDMAN have everything in that line. Beck & Waldman in laying in their immense fall and winter stock of Clothing have exercised great care, and selected with reference to the demands of trade. They have purchased their goods low and are determined not to be undersold. Let the public note this fact.

TO THE LADIES OF PORTLAND.

MRS. W. N. WALLACE has established a first class DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT in one of the new and Elegant Rooms on Stark Street, between First and Second, at which place she would respectfully solicit your patronage.

NEVER GIVE UP!

If all the cases in which HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR has cured inveterate and apparently fatal coughs, could be made known, every consumptive in the land would take heart and confidence, in hope of a course of this most wonderful preparation. Physicians who have exhausted their list of pulmonics, without benefit, recommend it as a last resort and even in the worst extremity its effects are astonishing. But it should be the first resort, not the last. It is impossible for any disease tending to consumption to retain its hold, if met in the early stages with this powerful vegetable remedy.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

A private soiree, the first of a series, will be given at the Pro... Club rooms this evening.

The Jolly Good Fellows entertain their friends at the new Nonpareil Hall this evening. Complimentary card received.

We are in receipt of an invitation to a ball and sociable to be given at Dayton, Yamhill county, on New Year's night. The affair is gotten up for the purpose of raising funds to purchase a school bell.

The complimentary party given at the Armory of the City Rifles last evening, under the auspices of that Company, proved a most enjoyable affair. There were a large number of invited guests, and everything went as merry as a bell. About 12 o'clock the party broke up.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

By reference to the advertising columns it will be seen that H. W. Monnastes has made a reduction in the prices of crockery, lamps, etc., with a view of enabling purchasers of holiday goods an opportunity to buy largely. Drop in and see his new store and new goods.

Missouri.—It is a little singular that this State which bore such an important part in the national controversy which resulted in our civil war, and the extinguishment of slavery in the United States, should be the birth-place of the great "cure-all" remedy known as the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. This embrocation produced national discussion, and has extinguished in all who use it, the pains and agonies to which the human and brute creation are subject. For diseases among horses and cattle it was the universal remedy throughout the Western and Southern States, and it has now reached the entire country, where it is as popular as it is in those States. Rejuvenate! For nearly a quarter of a century "LYON'S KATHAIRON" has been winning its way into popularity. It is composed of ingredients, which add strength and vitality to the hair-producing ducts, and its history may be summed up in Cæsar's expression when he crossed the Rubicon: "Veni Vidi Vici," I came, saw and conquered. It took the place of the miserable unguents which had weakened the fibres of hair and clogged their roots, and imparted vigor to the scalp, cleanliness to the head and gloss to the locks. It retains its place in millions of homes, as the great rejuvenator of the hair.

"How Can I bring back the days of my power?" was once asked by a fading belle. Around her once gathered the votaries of fashion. Her beauty had died out and she was neglected. A friend recommended the use of HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. She used it, and almost as speedily as if Aladdin's touch had transformed her, she regained her health by complexion, and was surrounded by admiring beaux. She had grown wiser and less coquettish, and now lives happily, the beloved center of a family group.

The wife of Sam Henry colored resident of Salisbury Md recently became the mother of four children When informed of the fact Sam began to make preparations for a journey "I ain't gwine to live in dis heah Salisbury no longer" said Sam

"Nobody surpasses me in this specialty," said a Cincinnati girl to her new lover the other night as she gave him a parting kiss with a report to it like that of a pistol The astonished youth walked away wondering where that girl got her experience

The bride of a few hours was so carefully locked in her room at Kolb's Hotel on Monday by her new lord and master that the key was broken in the lock the couple had to be let in by the proprietor through a side door to breakfast yesterday morning That groom didn't want to be disturbed

A Nashville preacher's little boy was reading a religious work the other day, and coming across the word "matrimony," was somewhat puzzled as to its meaning Turning to his brother who stood near by he asked what it meant "What do you think it means" was the reply "Well, I don't know if it don't mean h—l I don't know what it does mean" responded the sprightly urchin.

THE THIRD PARTY

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS AT THE RECENT INDIANAPOLIS CONVENTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov 25.—The Convention met again this evening After an address by the Chairman the Committee on Declaration of Principles made a report They deplore the evils which seem to have become a part of every branch of Government service corruption high taxes exorbitant rates of transportation and unjust discrimination in favor of certain [illegible] and against others They [illegible] demonstrate the necessity of a new political organization on the subject of money, which they consider an all important one They recommend as a basis of union the following It is the duty of the Government to establish a monetary system, based upon faith in the resources of the Nation, in harmony with the genius of the Government, and adapted to the demands of legitimate business. To this end the circulating notes of all National and State banks, as well as local currency, should be withdrawn and paper money be issued by the Government directly This money shall be a legal tender on all imports and in payment of all debts It shall be interchangeable at the option of the holder with registered Government bonds bearing a rate of interest not exceeding 3 6-10 per cent per annum The interest on the present public debt and that part of the principal of the same which is by express terms of the law creating it payable in coin shall be so paid The Committee recommend a National Convention of all people who can agree to the foregoing, to assemble at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 8th of March 1875 to perfect a National Platform and appoint a time and place for holding a National Independent Convention, to nominate a candidate for President and Vice President Each State shall be entitled to twice the number of votes that it has Congressional Representatives The Committee conclude by recommending the appointment of a National Executive Committee The report was unanimously adopted, after a lively discussion, and the Convention adjourned

[illegible]

A rather unusual correspondence was recently brought about by a [illegible] sent to Lydia Thompson from the Lord Chamberlain, saying that the religious feelings of some people were offended by allusions to Mr Spurgeon in Blue Beard which is just now attracting [illegible] to the Charing Cross Theater Lydia wrote to the famous Surrey preacher as follows

REVEREND SIR:—In the extravaganza Blue Beard now playing at this theater, the hero (enacted by myself) gives a card bearing your name to Blue Beard, adding "We always like to look upon the Surrey side" This announcement is invariably received with great applause but in deference to your position, I write to ask if you have any objection to the use of your name If so, I will withdraw it at once

Yours respectfully,

LYDIA THOMPSON

The reply was as follows

MADAM —Mr Spurgeon duly received your courteous note and would have replied but has been suffering from an attack of illness Mr Spurgeon desires me to say that you having had the politeness to inform him of the little incident he is quite content to leave the matter in your hands Yours respectfully

CHAS. F. BRADSHAW

That Mr Spurgeon did not improve the occasion to lecture Lydia on the sinfulness of the theater in general and of her acting the part of a hero half [illegible] of a [illegible], in particular will probably induce his American brethren to regret more than ever that he did not visit them when solicited to do so when he might have returned to us with more unctuous ideas "I need not say that on the night after this "little incident" the Charing Cross Theater was the scene of the first demonstration favorable to a London preacher ever known to the boards.—M. D. Conway's Letter to Cincinnati Commercial

RUSKIN DISCOVERS A POINT —Mr Ruskin has issued the following notice at Oxford

The Slade Professor has tried for five years to place his study in Oxford by lecturing at any time that might be [illegible] conveniently subordinate to other dates of study in the university He finds he has pleased nobody and must for the future at least make his hour known and [illegible]. He cannot alter it that term because people sometimes come from a distance and have settled their plans by the hour announced in the Gazette, but for many [illegible] he thinks it right to change the place and will hereafter lecture in the theatre of the museum On Friday October 30th he will not begin till 1:30 to allow settling time Afterward all his lectures will be at 12, in this and future terms. He feels that if he cannot be granted so much as twelve hours of serious audience in working time during the whole Oxford year he need not in future prepare public lectures at which his pupils need much regret their non-attendance

HOW THEY GOT HIM —The other day Bishop Haven took an unfair advantage of a gushing youth at Marysville, in Marion county, Iowa. The Bishop was dedicating a Methodist Church and soliciting subscriptions for it, and a certain young man whispered that if a certain young lady in the congregation would marry him he would give $500 to the church And the Bishop blurted it right out in meeting, and the young lady like Barkis, announced that she was willing And now that young man is exceedingly sorrowful Not because his possessions are great but the reverse He might call his bride his life and all that a man hath he will give in exchange for his life but he can't give more than he has got And so neither for his bride nor the church can that youngster raise a tithe of the tin that in the exuberant fondness of his heart he so idly promised No recourse is left him but the cold grave or to cut and run from the costly happiness he craved

BISHOP CUMMINS' SUCCESSOR —Louisville Ky Nov 12—The Episcopal Convention to select an assistant Bishop for this diocese to succeed Bishop Cummins after two days unlimited discussion to night elected Thomas U Dudley Jr D D Rector of Christ Church in Baltimore Three candidates were put in nomination viz Bishop Hare Missionary Bishop among the Indians Rev J S Shipman of Lexington Ky, and Dr Dudley There were sixteen ballots taken on the part of the clergy, and on the last Dr Dudley received 14 and Dr Shipman 13 votes. The laity confirmed the nomination on the first ballot by 22 to 9 Dr Dudley was compromise candidate between the Low Church the party supporting Dr Hare and the High Church supporting Dr Shipman It is understood that Dr Dudley is of conservative [illegible]

Latest Liverpool advices denote a quiet market Pacific coast wheat ranged from 9s 10d @10s 11d for average and 10s 4d @10s 10d for club per cental The London market is quoted at 48s 6d per quarter for average quality just shipped and 51s per quarter for average nearly due at Queenstown

There seems to be a fair degree of ease in money matter locally so far during the week which was hardly anticipated The interior now ending its share of capital to the center and aiding materially to prevent the finance market from any unwonted pressure on account of the heavy disbursements rendered necessary by the extensive movement of the crop product of the country which is going on

It is said by some that one of the main planks in the Grangers financial platform is that of paying cash or never going in debt unless in cases of urgent necessity and the policy is being carried out by many of them in all their dealings with very encouraging results The cash system is one which if it could be practiced in all trade transactions would produce an exceedingly satisfactory condition of affairs and save a deal of trouble to all concerned

Trade hardly presents as active an appearance as on the preceding days of the week but still there is a very satisfactory feeling in business circles and dealers have no serious fears as to the prosperity of the future of the week and month We notice quite a number of buyers from the valley in the market for the purpose of replenishing their winter stocks and making purchases for the holiday trade On the whole business is more active payments more prompt and the commercial sky clearer than it has been at this time of the season for two years past

Pork Packing.

In addition to other industries on this coast that at the head of this article is destined to become a leading one, and experiments in that direction so far have been quite successful in this city and elsewhere. The establishments here and at Salem annually cure large quantities of pork which for quality, stands deservedly high in all the markets where it has been introduced At Walla Walla the business has been begun by Messrs Hull & Co and their establishment is thus described by the Spirit of the West

The building near the head of Main street and lately occupied by Quinn & Co has been fitted up as a pork packing establishment, and under the direction of Mr E B McKinstry a practical packer already considerable headway has been made in packing and curing hams sides and shoulders In a limited way the concern is organized after the style of the Eastern packing houses the hogs are taken in whole and at once transferred to the cutting table where the hams shoulders and sides are dressed and prepared for pickling The rendering pan is alongside ready to receive the fat and from this pan the lard is drawn off into cans, kegs or barrels, as the case may be, and prepared for market A sausage factory is part of the establishment where the trimmings are converted into pure pork sausage without the admixture of beef The pigs feet are also cured, and leave the factory ready for the table By these varied processes every part of the hog is saved and thus the cost of curing reduced to the minimum

As a specimen of what may be done with hogs, the Record says Mr Oppenheimer, of Colville two years ago purchased a good Berkshire boar pig of S G Reed for the purpose of improving his stock of hogs He recently killed 20 graded hogs 18 months old, and their average weight, dressed was 366 pounds, two of them weighing respectively 470 and 478 pounds Who can doubt then that it will pay to improve our breed of hogs? It is a great mistake to suppose that hogs can only be fattened with wheat. Every farmer should have a boiler conveniently fixed to cook hog feed and then he could utilize all his root crops boil potatoes squashes apples etc add a little chopped wheat to [illegible] the diet and so [illegible] hogs well and cheaply fattened There is no better opening for a sure thing in connection with farming to-day, than for every farmer to raise at least 20 hogs and fatten thus each year

Grain and Produce

The market is not to day the scene of any feature of especial importance the receipts of all varieties of farm products of a seasonable character being very heavy and, in most lines, in excess of the current demand Wheat has been coming forward in increased volume ever since the Upper Willamette was raised by the rains to a navigable point, and still steamboat men inform us that the quantity in store along the river is but little less than it was two weeks ago the warehouses being filled by producers from the adjacent country about as rapidly as the boats bring the grain away The demand here is still active at current rates for good shipping wheat but buyers seem to be indisposed to offer more than $1 35 now against $1 37½ for round lots one week ago The foreign markets have been the theme of some consideration since the advices of last week relative to a general continental advance of 1s per cental but as yet no information has been received of any effect upon sales of cargoes from this coast in the English markets quotations having undergone no change for a full fortnight In San Francisco the movement is not so active as either at a corresponding period in 1872 or 1873 The Grangers of that State through their Executive Committee are making charters and shipping a very considerable part of the grain exports being made there now In our State they now have but one vessel actually under charter the Privateer which they will probably load during this and next week doing their business as before stated through the well-known house of Rodgers Meyer & Co It is rumored that as soon as the Privateer has completed final arrangements will be made for other vessels either in port or soon to arrive

Oats are being received in large quantities and the shipping demand is a little more active but offers are unchanged Barley in small lots is also in the market at slightly reduced prices

Fruits and vegetables in season are abundant at low figures with a limited demand except for home consumption Dairy products are liberally supplied at our last quotations while dressed hogs are in active demand for packing purposes at slightly advanced figures

The postponement of the time of the sailing of the regular steamer from San Francisco will leave our market a little short of some lines of imported fruit, for a few days
